

Q<sup>1</sup>List

BOOKS! Hundreds curated AUTHORS! supporters of the by recommendations

Quatrefoil
MOVIES!

quatrefoil

Meet the Desk Volunteers • Scholarship Fund Momentum Your Old Books & Quatrefoil • New at Q: Merch Table Free Events at the Library • Dates to Remember

10 Best Lesbian Books/Series

5 Best Gay Best Friends (film) You May Not Have Read

Stephen Caffrey in Micky Knight series by J.M. Redmann The Celaeno or the Lyremouth series by Jane Fletcher Isis series by Jean Stewart “Chronicles of Alsea” by Fletcher DeLancey

“Longtime Companion” (1989)

The person everyone can depend upon, and he does the “Dreamgirls” dance flawlessly. Rupert Everett in “My Best Friend’s Wedding” (1997)

Everyone who has played this role since Cain Casey series by Ali Vali is doing a pale imitation of this witty “The Always Anonymous Beast” performance. by Lauren Wright Douglas

T. Wendy McMillan Stoner McTavish series by Sarah Dreher Lauren Laurano series by Sandra Scoppettone “Thin Fire” by Nanci Little

Echo Series by Linda Kay Silva

5 Great Lesbian Romances “Annie on My Mind” by Nancy Garden (1982) Girl meets girl in New York’s Metropolitan Museum. Still a heartwarming classic in 2018. “Fried Green Tomatoes at the Whistle Stop Café” by Fannie Flagg (1987) The word lesbian does not appear once in this book, but child, it is the sweetest Southern lesbian romance ever written. “After Mrs. Hamilton” by Clare Ashton (2012) A lesbian escort finds love. Ashton gives us Yanks the UK’s best lady... in print. “Tell Me Again How a Crush Should Feel” by Sara Farizan (2015) Iranian-American Leila falls in love with the new girl at her boarding school. One of the few LGBTQ young adult novels with a Muslim heroine. Sweet and nerdy.

in “Go Fish” (1994) A best friend who will not rest until her buddy finds love. Sarah Paulson in “Carol” (2015)

“The Air You Breathe” by Frances de Pontes Peebles (2018) It isn’t every day that two girls from the Brazilian sugar plantation run to the big city to become samba musicians.

Rachel Wexelbaum, St. Cloud librarian

She does what her titular friend/ex-lover needs her to do, even if she thinks it’s the wrong thing. Lisa Vecoli Former director of Tretter Collection at U of M

Stanley Tucci in “The Devil Wears Prada” (2006) Favorite Books by

Not just loyal, he also has impeccable taste. Christopher Isherwood

Chris Hewitt, Star Tribune staff writer “A Single Man” (1964) A stellar short novel about a day in the life of George, a grieving English professor in southern California. The 2009 movie (directed by Tom Ford) is a gorgeous tearjerker. “Christopher and His Kind” (1976)

Isherwood sheds the closet and recounts his early life, his fiction, famous friends and passionate loves. “Berlin Stories” (1939) Set during Hitler’s rise to power, this book Includes “The Last of Mr. Norris” and “Goodbye

To Berlin,” in which Isherwood launched the “Cabaret” characters into the world. “My Guru and His Disciple” (1980)

A frank and fascinating memoir of the worldly writer’s 30-year relationship with the Hindu monk Swami Prabhavananda

Claude Peck, Q board member
Sarah Paulson in 'Carol'

2 3

Books with Funny Families

5 Desert Island Gay Novels “The Kid” by Dan Savage

“Death in Venice” by Thomas Mann “My Brother’s Husband” Vol. 1

by Gengoroh Tagame “Fun Home: A Family Tragicomic”

by Alison Bechdel “No One Can Pronounce My Name”

by Rakesh Satyal “A Queer and Present Danger”

by Kate Bornstein

Death coupled with desire, what could be better? Maybe a bit sketchy nowadays, as it’s an old man doing the lusting after a boy, but it’s philosophical and there is never any contact between them. “Maurice” by E.M. Forster Forster’s posthumous early novel of gay love; it’s groundbreaking; so very English, yet sexy! Anitra Budd, Q board member

“The Counterfeiters” by Andre Gide

The greatest novel you may never Cooking/Entertaining Books “Cooking in Heels:

A Memoir Cookbook” by Ceyenne Doroshow “A Girl Called Jack” by Jack Monroe have heard of. Nobel winner Gide being postmodern before modern was post; exciting Parisian intrigue full of desire and counterfeit money and desire. “Giovanni’s Room” by James Baldwin You’ll never read finer prose or such a “Big Gay Ice Cream: Saucy Stories and vivid portrayal of longing. Frozen Treats” by Brian Petroff and Doug Quint

“The Swimming-Pool Library”

by Alan Hollinghurst “Flavour: Eat What You Love”

This book changed the landscape of gay by Ruby Tandoh fiction when it came out in 1988; if wit “Feed the Resistance: Recipes + Ideas can be breathtaking, this is it. for Getting Involved” by Julia Turshen

Greg Hewett, poet and Q board member

Anitra Budd, Q board member

Books For Someone Just Coming Out “It Gets Better” edited by Dan Savage

and Terry Miller (2011). Created in response to a series of tragic suicides by LGBT young people, It Gets Better features a collection of essays and stories by celebrities and political leaders, from Ellen DeGeneres to President Barack Obama, for teens struggling with bullying. “The Miseducation of Cameron Post” by Emily M. Danforth (2012). Set in rural Montana in the 1990s, this novel follows a young girl who is discovering her sexuality and is subsequently sent to a gay conversion camp, where she is introduced to a welcoming community of queer teens. “Boy Meets Boy” by David Levithan (2003). This classic queer romance novel follows Paul as he meets, loses, and attempts to win back Noah. It’s also notable for including the cross-dressing quarterback Infinite Darlene and a small town where LGBTQ teenagers are widely accepted. “Trans Teens Survival Guide” by Fox

Fisher and Owl Fisher (2018). Written by a trans non-binary couple, this guide for trans and gender non-conforming teens features hilarious true stories and advice on coming out, pronouns, hormone therapy, and more. “The Perks of Being a Wallflower” by Stephen Chbosky (1999). A coming-of- age tale about an introverted high school freshman and his experiences with death, romance, abuse, LSD, and “The Rocky Horror Picture Show.” The 2012 movie adaptation co-stars queer actor Ezra Miller.

Ryan Lulofs, school counselor

2 Good Books about Books “Eminent Outlaws: The Gay

Writers Who Changed America” by Christopher Bram (2012) This smart, passionate survey makes you want to go back and read influential writers ranging from James Baldwin and Truman Capote to Larry Kramer and Tony Kushner. “The Unpunished Vice” by Edmund

White (2018), Subtitled “A Life in Reading,” White’s chatty memoir careens widely among writers (gay and straight) he has found influential and unforgettable in his long life in literature.. Claude Peck, Q board member

2 Terrific Recent Memoirs “Logical Family” by Armistead Maupin

The famed “Tales of the City” writer takes his own life to center stage. “When We Rise” by Cleve Jones Merges politics, autobiography and sex in one highly readable volume.

Claude Peck, Q board member

10 Essential Gay Male Poets William Shakespeare The Sonnets, of course! The fact that the Bard was “gay” still irks a lot of folk. Walt Whitman All of “Leaves of Grass,” but especially the Calamus poems, are full of masculine love and are sensuous as anything. Arthur Rimbaud The mad boy-genius will knock you

‘Essential’ gay poet

Frank O’Hara

out with the brilliance of his hallucinatory verse. C.P. Cavafy His fin-de-siecle cafe scenes in cosmopolitan Alexandria are so sexy and sad; the scenes from ancient times are also powerful. Hart Crane Strong (and Queer) Women in

Science Fiction and Fantasy

Tragic life, triumphant poetry; in a sense, his writing is a gay language. W. H. Auden “Solitaire” by Kelley Eskridge This Anglo-American poet is the “Santa Olivia” by Jacqueline Carey touchstone for the modern gay “Daughter of Mystery” by Heather sensibility as it was forming. Rose Jones

Allen Ginsberg “Fire Logic” by Laurie Marks “The Northern Girl” by Elizabeth Lynn “Silver Moon” by Catherine

Lundoff “Ash” by Malinda Lo

All hairy and loud and amazing! In-your- face queer before anyone! Frank O’Hara Urbane yet accessible; read his elegy to Billie Holiday, “The Day Lady Died,” and “Ascension” by Jacqueline Koyanagi

I dare you not to weep. “Smoketown” by Tenea D. Johnson

Frank Bidart “Lady Knight” by L-J Baker “Gossamer Axe” by Gael Baudino

Catherine Lundoff, writer

12 Great Trans /Nonbinary Reads “I Am J” by Cris Beam “Beauty Queens” by Libba Bray “Brooklyn,

Burning ” by Steve Brezenoff “Jess, Chunk, and the Road Trip to Infinity” by Kristin Elizabeth Clark “Beautiful

Music for Ugly Children”

by Kristin Cronn-Mills “Dreadnought” by April Daniels “Sovereign” by April Daniels “Being Emily” by Rachel Gold

“Just Girls” by Rachel Gold “If I Was Your Girl” by Meredith Russo

Such a genius and so accessible, so “Lizard Radio” by Pat Schmatz dramatic; his collections “Golden State” “The Art of Being Normal”

by Lisa Williamson

and “The Book of the Body” should be required gay reading.

Rachel Gold, writer

Mark Doty The chief American gay poet of the last

3 Best AIDS Memoirs

few decades; he knows his gay stuff!

Greg Hewett, poet and Q board member “Borrowed Time” by Paul Monette “Eighty-Sixed” by David Feinberg

(although his “Queer and Loathing,” which he was writing right up to his death, is pretty compelling, too) “Smash Cut”

by Brad Gooch

Rick Nelson, Star Tribune staff writer

4 5

Favorite Movies with Lesbian Themes or Characters “Imagine Me and You” I watched this because I love Matthew Goode in anything. “When Night is Falling” A dog in a refrigerator? “The Gymnast” “Carol” Great cast. “The Secrets” “Blue is the Warmest Color” “Fried Green

Tomatoes” (implied)

Any movie based on a Sarah Waters book (“Fingersmith,” “Tripping the Velvet,” “Affinity”)

Nanette Stearns, Q board president

Favorite Edmund White Books “A Boy’s Own Story” An essential for me in more ways than I can count. Just writing that makes me want to go back and re-read it (again). “The Farewell

Symphony” A really important book for me. Not always an easy read, but beautifully crafted. “Skinned Alive” It’s easy to forget that White is a really fine short story writer and I don’t know how well known this collection is, but I really loved it.

Gary Eldon Peter, author of “Oranges”

Desk At the Meet some of the volunteers who keep the library going.

Travis Clemens Occupation: Community Health Advocate at JustUs Health Your regular shift: Second Mondays
Volunteer since: 2018 Why you volunteer: Because I love books and I love giving back to my community. Favorite LGBTQ book: Anything by David Sedaris
Charles Tamble

Favorite LGBTQ movie: “To Wong Foo, Thanks for Occupation: Everything! Julie Newmar” (not naked) civil servant Your regular shift at Q: second Mondays Volunteer since: 1991
Why you volunteer: There have been numerous times over the years when someone stepped into Quatrefoil for the very first time when I was the volunteer. Welcoming them with a warm smile, providing a non-threatening environment and encouraging them to explore more what it means to be a part of the GLBT community have been wonderful experiences. It’s a way to be involved and give back. Favorite LGBTQ book: “The Celluloid Closet” by Vito Russo Favorite LGBTQ movie: “Hedwig and the Angry Inch”

Bruce Williams Occupation: Guthrie Theater staff usher Your regular shift at Q: second Wednesdays, third Saturdays, fifth Thursdays Volunteer since: Summer 2018 Why you volunteer: To contribute, to be a more involved part of the LGBTQ community, to hang out with all the books. Favorite LGBTQ book: “Goodbye to Berlin” by Christopher Isherwood Favorite LGBTQ movie: “Meet Me In St. Louis”

My 5 favorite Timothy Findley books Findley (1930-2002) was a gay Canadian writer, and very beloved in Canada. He’s less recognized in the U.S. “Not Wanted on the Voyage” “Famous Last Words” “The Telling of Lies” “Headhunter” “Dust to Dust: Stories”

William Reichard, poet

6 7

Dana Edstrom Volunteer since: 4 months ago What shift do you work? Sunday afternoons Why I volunteer at Q: It’s a valuable community resource and social hub. Favorite LGBTQ book/author: Strictly for old times’ sake, I would say anything by Joseph Hansen. Favorite LGBTQ movie: “Beautiful Thing”

Emma Dimassis Occupation: Auditor at Deloitte & Touche Volunteer since: 2 months ago. What shift do you work? First Sundays, afternoon. Why I volunteer at Q: Because all people deserve a welcoming community with friendly faces. Favorite LGBTQ book: “Maurice” by E.M. Forster Favorite LGBTQ movie: “The Way He Looks”

Q Volunteer Awards

New Old Books,

Money

By Brian Dahlvig, Q board member

Thanks to donations from library number of items we have listed, the supporters, Quatrefoil is able to raise less expensive books add up over each hundreds of dollars in books sales each month. When you don't buy books from month. When we receive books that we us online or in person, we recommend already have on our shelves, we sell you buy at Moon Palace Books in them to help fund operations, rent

Minneapolis. Quatrefoil orders many of and programming.

its new books there at a Along with our in-library and Pride discount, so our acquisition budget book sales (the next one coming in goes further. March), we sell things on Amazon. You Please drop off your extra LGBTQ can find our listings at www.amazon.

books and DVDs at the library during visibility from the street. We can still serve our traditional role as steward of the vast collection begun by Dick and David and greatly expanded over the years due to the generosity of our members while adapting to the style and

com/shops/QuatrefoilLibrary regular hours. We are at E. Lake St. and Donated art and photography 13th Ave. South, and there is free parking books are especially welcome, as behind the building. If you have a lot of they sometimes bring in larger dollar books and need help, let us know and we amounts. But that is not necessarily can arrange to pick them up. always the case. Thanks to the sheer usage methods of a new generation of members as well as the community as a whole."

The Volunteer of the Year Award goes to Brian Dahlvig, a current board member who has served Quatrefoil in

Key Dates in 2019

March 2 various ways. As chair of the acquisitions

Spring Book Sale at the library committee, Brian researches and buys new books for the collection. Brian adds records for almost all new books

April 1-June 10 Writing the AIDS Generation, free 10-week class (7-9 p.m. Mondays) to the online catalog, and by now the

for gay men who lived through the first decade of the pandemic number he has added must total in the thousands. Recently, he has taken on the task of selling duplicate books and DVDs online, which brings a steady source of and those interested in writing about the era. Led by novelist Brian Malloy. For registration:

malloywriter.com/contact.htm June 22-23 revenue to the library. Brian has served Pride Book Sale at Loring Park as a representative of the library to Community Shares of Minnesota, which provides funds to the library And the awards go to... Volunteers keep Quatrefoil open day after day and keep the library going year after year. This year's Dale Johnson Award for longstanding service to the library goes to Dave Violett (above, left). After 22 years working at the desk on the first Sunday of each month, Dave is retiring from the library. He has served as both board president (2003- 04) and vice president (2001-02). He has donated money as well as his time, and organized fundraisers, including securing a donation of $11,000 from his employer, Wells Fargo, to offset the cost of moving the library to Minneapolis from St. Paul in 2013. He served so long "because Quatrefoil is such a great community resource," Violett said. Over the years, the library "has become a better representative of the diverse makeup of our community, although there's still a way to go," he said. "The move to Minneapolis has contributed greatly to this shift by providing a

October 5 Fall used-book sale at the library warm, welcoming, accessible space with and other nonprofits. room for community events and better

Thanks, Dave and Brian!

8 9

June 22 Pride Boo at Loring

People Year

of the (last)

Scholarship fund update

Q: What do First Avenue and Quatrefoil have in common? A: They both have merch tables.

The library wants to be a place where people and ideas come together, so it has increased the range and number of special events it hosts. Donations from members and donors enable Quatrefoil to offer all events at no charge. Thanks to all who spoke (and sang!) at the library in 2018, and to those who showed up to meet newsmakers, hear new fiction and poetry and explore LGBTQ history.

OTHER EVENTS Women Who Write Open House with Food Truck lunch Karin Kallmaker reading Gary Eldon Peter book launch of "Oranges" YA panel with Rachel Gold and Christine Jenkins William Reichard poetry reading

In our Pride issue, we announced the creation of the Quatrefoil Library Scholarship Fund. Since then, we've raised more than $6,000, about nearly 25 percent of our goal of making this a $25,000 endowed fund. Thanks to all who've contributed.

The scholarships will be granted in the form of tuition assistance to LGBTQ high school seniors or undergraduate college students pursuing liberal arts degrees and enrolled at or planning to attend a Minnesota school. It is hoped that winners will use the library's resources as part of their research or study.

If you love Q, you gotta have the T-shirt. Our growing merch table now has new shirts in two colors, plus magnetized buttons and coloring books drawn from the covers of gay and lesbian pulp novels. Check it out the next time you stop by the library. All proceeds support the library, natch.

Quatrefoil recently applied for a grant to help reach its goal of awarding the inaugural scholarship in fall 2019. Let us know if your unique talents can help us support queer students pursue their college dreams. We need people to serve on the selection committee, do outreach to GSA groups in area schools and, of course, to help fund this exciting new program. To make an online donation to the scholarship endowment, go to www. qlibrary.org.

Paul Kaefer

Writer Lisa Vecoli spoke about the and Minneapolis City history of lesbian pulp novels

Council member Andrea Jenkins

"Fellow Travelers" stars Andres Acosta and Hadleigh Adams

An Evening with Rick Nelson (left) and Chris Hewitt

Dianna Hunter, author of "Wild Mares"

An evening with Saloon owner John Moore (center)

Hunter with Q board president Nanette Stearns (far right)

Ellen Lansky, author of "Suburban Heathens"

10 11

Finding Himself

By Eric Marcus When I interviewed lesbians who grew up in the 1940s and '50s, the one book that each of them said had helped them come to an understanding of themselves was a 1928 novel about a lesbian by British author Radclyffe Hall: "The Well of Loneliness." The first book I read (in a "Reader's Digest" condensed version in my dentist's office!) as a teenager where I recognized myself was a 1975 novel about a mother coming to terms with her gay son called "Consenting Adult." The author was Laura Z. Hobson, who was most famous for writing "Gentleman's Agreement," a 1947 novel about anti-semitism that was made into a movie starring Gregory Peck that won an Oscar for Best Picture. The second gay book in which I really recognized myself was John Reid's 1973 "The Best Little Boy in the World." Or The BLBITW, as it was commonly known among gay men who found the main character to be all too familiar. John Reid was the pen name of Andrew Tobias. The first gay novel that broke my heart was "The Front Runner," Patricia Nell 1220 E. Lake St.

12

HOURS Minneapolis, MN 55407

Sat.-Sun., 10 a.m.-5 p.m. www.qlibrary.org

612-729-2543

Weekdays, 7-9 p.m.

email: info@qlibrary.org

Wednesdays, 1-5 p.m.

Follow Quatrefoil on Facebook

Design and illustration by Chris Larson

Warren's 1974 love story about a star athlete and his coach. It was the summer of 1976. I was 17. And I sobbed. When I first began researching our history when I was a freshman in college, my eyes were opened wide by Kay Tobin Lahusen's 1972 "The Gay Crusaders." I later interviewed Kay and her longtime partner, Barbara Gittings, for my own book about the history of the LGBTQ movement, which was first published in 1992 under the title "Making History," and in a 2002 edition under the title "Making Gay History." I recommend two other books about our history that are must-reads in advance of the 50th anniversary of the Stonewall uprising. The first is David Carter's 2004 definitive account of the riots, which is called, appropriately, “Stonewall.” The second is Lillian Faderman’s recently published “The Gay Revolution.” (And if you haven’t read her 1992 “Odd Girls and Twilight Lovers,” I recommend that one as well.) Eric Marcus is the author of a dozen books, including “Making Gay History,” which is also the name of his award-winning podcast. www.makinggayhistory.com